

Val delle Rose

- Sangiovese is the star at Val delle Rose.
- The estate is located on the coast of South Tuscany in the Maremma area, in the heart of the Morellino di Scansano production area.
- Their 105ha of vineyards will be converted to Organic by 2021.

In 1996, Famiglia Cecchi purchased the Val delle Rose winery in the small town of Poggio la Mozza, which lies at the productive heart of Morellino di Scansano.

The Cecchi intervention was comparable to a minor farming revolution, as the agricultural techniques used until then did not ensure the batch-to-batch consistency needed for the viability of a winery.

A study of the property's soil revealed the enormous potential of this terroir and the land under vine was extended to about the current 100 hectares.

This beautiful estate, in the western part of Tuscany, is situated at the center of a perfect zone where the climate and constant exposure to the sun guarantee exceptionally ripe grapes (mainly Sangiovese). The excellent ripeness of the grapes and the perfectly managed vineyard guarantee elegant, mature, and structured wines.
