Le Colture
Prosecco Rose

It has a light antique pink color, with color tones that fades to coral pink and an infinite amount of bubbles. Typical smells of Glera comes to the nose, and it has some small red berry fruit hints, almost like wild strawberry, pomegranate, gooseberry, and sage. These evolve to hints of confit e rose petals. Everything is very elegant and delicate. To the mouth it's fresh and harmonic, with an optimal flavor. Faded feelings of astringency give a long persistency. It's complete, with a strong structure and fresh to the palate.
