The Three Things To Know

1. Franciacorta's First

Berlucchi pioneered Franciacorta in 1961, when Count Guido Berlucchi and winemaker Franco Ziliani founded Italy's first traditional-method, bottle-fermented sparkling wine. Innovation has been a core pillar for the winery since the beginning.

2. Uncompromised Quality

Franciacorta adheres to some of the world's strictest standards for yields and aging. Each glass of Berlucchi embodies this commitment and is crafted with care and precision, offering uncompromised quality.

3. Commitment to Sustainability

All estate vineyards are certified organic and Berlucchi promotes sustainable practices across its partners. You can learn more about Berlucchi's ongoing environmental projects and long-term strategy in their Annual Sustainability Report.

Our Relationship

"Berlucchi is a true innovator, and we're honored to partner with them. Their vineyards and property are truly incredible, but the real beauty of the estate is the Ziliani family. They adore the region and take tremendous pride in all that they, and their neighboring wineries, have accomplished." - Charles Lazzara, Volio Founder & CEO
