The Three Things To Know

1. Sustainability Leader

All of Cantine Povero's vineyards are certified organic. Solar panels have been installed on the winery's roof, all water used for production is from an ancient family well, and they have been planting trees to achieve a 1:1 ratio of forest to vineyards.

2. Quality Piedmont, Affordable Pricing

Cantine Povero produces "bottled experiences," aiming to take drinkers on a multi-sensory journey. This philosophy allows them to make wines that are distinctively Piedmont, but approachable compared to many other wines from the area.

3. Rooted in Piedmont

Family-owned for three generations, Cantine Povero was founded on responsible viticulture, working with the seasons and the land's natural strengths—a commitment that has guided the winery across generations.

Our Relationship

"Back in 2010 I was eager to find a wine that drank well but didn't suffer from the 'Alba' designation's growing issue of increasing prices. Alessio showed me his wines... fresh, bright, and excellent examples of the varietals for the region."
