The Three Things To Know

1. Vineyards in Stellar Locations

Marcarini cultivates its vineyards in prime locations—La Morra, La Serra, and Brunate—where steep slopes, soil diversity, sun exposure, and unique microclimates favor top-quality wines while supporting natural vineyard practices.

2. A Single-Vineyard First

Marcarini was among the first wineries to label single vineyards in the 1950s, and all its vineyards are estate-owned. Its historic Boschi di Berri vineyard, at over 150 years old, is planted with pre-Phylloxera Dolcetto vines.

3. Consistency Among Six Generations

“Classic” lies at the heart of Marcarini’s winemaking philosophy, blending tradition with modernity, which has remained consistent among the six generations that have contributed to the evolution of Marcarini. The eighteenth-century winery and its underground cellars provide the perfect setting for traditional élevage.

What Others Are Saying

“...these Barolos could be used to teach a class on what greatness truly means when it comes to one of Piedmont's most historic vineyards, Brunate.”
